HIV and the family: How communities can improve prevention, care and treatment

Room 2 | 17:00 – 18:30 | Tuesday 20th July 2010

This Forum explores how communities can help take PMTCT and paediatric care and treatment to new levels of success.

Integrating HIV services and reproductive health, scaling up PMTCT, implementing targets for longer-term care, recent changes to breastfeeding guidance and efforts to increase early infant diagnosis—these are challenges that demand the involvement and support of affected communities.

This Forum is your opportunity to hear from leading figures in policy, science and community fields. You can debate with them the role that communities already play in PMTCT and paediatric treatment and care, and how that can be encouraged and enhanced.
